

Going It Alone Is Overrated

Kent Mowrer
CSIF Field Specialist

Working beside you... to help you interpret rules and regulations

Livestock rules and regulations are constantly changing and that can be confusing, but you don't need to go it alone. Just ask Chickasaw County livestock farmer, Dan Speicher, who owns Prime Feeders. When the EPA made a surprise visit to his feedlot, Dan called the Coalition to Support Iowa's Farmers (CSIF) for advice.

"Kent Mowrer, CSIF field specialist, toured our feedlot and evaluated our practices to confirm everything was in order. He was knowledgeable and had our best interests in mind, which led to a positive outcome."
